

Keio-Cologne Lecture Series

Foto: © rawpixel.com/shutterstock.com

Aging, Medicine and Society

Understanding, Shaping, Managing Longevity

Winter Semester 2020/21

On-Demand Series on Aging and Society

A Joint Lecture Series of Keio and Cologne Universities

Every Wednesday, starting November 4, 2020

- How should we react to demographic change?
- Are our societies prepared for the needs of an aging population?
- How can we not only prolong life, but also ensure a high quality of life in old age?

Get to know cutting-edge research projects on aging in Japanese Keio University and the University of Cologne, dealing with these questions. Stream sessions on demand to your preference. Meet leading experts from medicine, economics, psychology, gerontology, care, ethics, law and more and join the discussion with your questions to be answered by the experts in a dedicated follow-up Q&A recording to be viewed on demand. Earn ETCS credit for „Studium Integrale“.

Further Information:

<http://tiny.cc/yw11tz>

ceres

cologne center for ethics, rights, economics, and social sciences
of health

Keio University

1858
CALAMVS GLADIO FORTIOR